Performances

Clickety Cloggers is a group of dancers whose high-energy performances are rooted in traditional Appalachian-style clogging, with a modern flair. What brings us together is our shared interest of this uniquely American dance and our enthusiasm for promoting music and dance in our community.

In our performances we show our audiences what Appalachian style clogging looks and sounds like. Our love of clogging, music, and dancing is infectious, and audiences are soon clapping and stomping right along with us.

Our show, which can vary in length, includes precision couples and line dance performed to traditional music, bluegrass, country and pop/rock music. In fact, the dance becomes part of the music as the sound of the dancers' taps creates a driving, rhythmic background to the catchy tunes. You can have one without the other, but it is not nearly as entertaining or as much fun.

We can tailor our performances to fit your needs.

So when it comes to booking entertainment for your conference, festival, party or special event, be sure to contact us!
